Entry onto the stage was slick and professional and the "choreography" of turning around and moving to face different directions was exciting and well-rehearsed. There were times when the melodies needed to sing out more clearly above the accompaniment but this was a very entertaining and rhythmic performance, with the "front-row" players confidently projecting the sound and "back-row" percussion players giving very able musical support. The mood of the Disney songs was successfully communicated in this happy interpretation. Well done!
